Horizon Collection

The Horizon TV Unit, living up to its name, sits on your wall like a modern work of art with its seamless horizontal lines and silhouette that adds a sense of spaciousness. Special surface textures that allow for play of light and the series' signature minimalist lines create a panoramic visual feast in your living space. This unit, which surrounds the television viewing experience with architectural elegance, is designed for those who want to experience aesthetics as clear and impressive as an endless line.

NILHAUS

The background of the image is an abstract composition of dark, textured brushstrokes. The colors are primarily deep blues, forest greens, and earthy browns, with some lighter, almost white, areas where the paint is more saturated or where the strokes are more pronounced. The overall effect is one of raw, expressive energy, with the strokes appearing to be applied with a heavy brush or palette knife. The lighting is uneven, with some areas being brighter than others, creating a sense of depth and movement.
